now the University of Pennsylvania and Harvard Teams Compare in Flaying strength—Quakers Weak in Signals—Me-Clung Will Referee and Dashiell Umpire. BOSTON, Nov. 6.—Present indications point to record-breaking attendance at the Harvard-University of Pennsylvania football game on Soldiers' Field to-morrow. The weather to-day has been so nearly perfect that thousands who as a rule stay away from the gridiron because of chilly winds and possible dampness are making preparations to go out early to morrow morning. The managers say that ever 25,000 persons will see the game, and base this prediction on the fact every ticket has been purchased or spoken for, while hundreds of appli-eatlors are still pouring in. Those of Old Penn's supporters who are here edds on the Quakers that have prevailed for a week past. They want to wager at even money. but Harvard men are still holding off even when odds are offered. The practice of "Pennsy's" men at Auburndale has demonstrated the fact that they are weak in signals. Both Outland and Gardiner, who have been giving them, are lacking in good judgment, their coaches say, and any mistakes by them tomorrow may result fatally. The Quakers have been playing smooth, clean, easy football this season, while Harvard has been putting up a rather aggressive game. If the Quakers play the kind of football that has been drummed into them by Woodruff, they ought to win, the experts say, but the general belief is that they will have to fight harder than they did last year for victory. The harvard coachers, it is thought, have been per-fecting a method by which "Pennsy's" cele-brated "guards back" play will be smashed to pieces. Both teams are in fine physical trim, with one or two exceptions, and can stand the hardest kind of play. Experts who have carefully watched the of both teams are practically a unit in saying that Harvard's backs are superior to those of the Quakers, while the latter's rush line, taken as a whole, outclasses the Crimson's. At the centre of the two lines Old Penn, with Overfield as snap back, shows undoubted strength over Burnett, C. Sargent or Jaffray. Overfield, while not exactly a heavyweight, is strong and aggressive, a power in following the ball, and a fine defensive player, both in the line and in the open. Burnett, the best of Harvard's centres, lacks experience, although he has learned rapidly, and is not handleapped by superfluous weight. Jaffray and Sargent are too ponderous to play fast football, such as they vill be required to do by the fast pace set by Overfield. All indications, therefore, point to overfield. All indications, therefore, point to an advantage in this part of the line for the Quakers. At the guards Pennsylvania also appears to have much in her favor. Hare, at left guard, is a star, not only in defensive work, but in ground gaining and punting. He is particularly effective in the guards back' interference and was rated in the first class last year. He will be opposed by Burden, a newcomer, who is strong, aggressive, but altogether inexperienced when it comes to playing in a big game. McCracken at right guard for Oid Penn, like Hare, is also a great player, but he will have in Boal of Harvard's likely antagoniet, who may succeed in nullifying some of the big Quaker's efforts. Boal is the best ground gainer in Harvard's line, a fierce proposition on the aggressive, and as strong as an ox. But it is doubtful whether he knows the intricacles of football assawell as McCracken, who has been wonderfully developed by Woodraff. Outclassed at the centre and guards, therefore, Harvard will have to make up for this deficiency in other respects. At the tackles there may be a stand-off. Harvard has a powerful left tackle in Donald, a vigorous hustler and a physical marvel. He will be opposed by Carnett, who is about of the same calibre. Either Haughton or Mills will play right tackle for the Crimson. The former is a good punter but weak on the defensive when compared to Mills. Opposed to either will be Goodman, who is a veteran and a hard worker. The ends are about equal, all things considered. Occhran has a bad leg, but it is though that he will be all right when the teams thought that he will be all right when the teams though a followel are rated in the same class, fast in getting down the field, but not up to the standard in breaking up interference and in stopping end rovs. Gardiner, Old Penn's quarter back, is regarded as the weakest man on the team, which is in striking contrast to the nice things said of young Daly of Harvard. Gardiner gives the signals rapidly but does not run the eleven with par an advantage in this part of the line for the Quakers. At the guards Pennsylvania also aphow to provide interference. Both men played in the big games last year, and work to-gether spiendidly. "Pennsy's" half backs— McMahon, Harrison and Combahow to provide interference. Both men nisred in the big games last year, and work together spiendidly. "Pennsy's" half backs—McMahon. Harrison, and Coombs—are all new men. McMahon is the most powerful in physique of the three, but Harrison, though light in weight, is a sprinter and a swift follower of interference. Coombs is a strong line hitter and a fair kicker, but not so effective as Hare in the latter respect. Reid. Harvard's full back. is one of the best punters of the big elevens and a better line hitter than either Dibblee or Warren. He is also wery fast in getting into interference. Outland, the Quakers' full back, is chiefly effective in bucking the line and following interference for long runs. He is one of the most agreesive men on the team. But though he is the best ground-gaining back on the eleven he is not thought to be the equal of any of the Harvard backs. McClung of Lehigh will refere the game and Dashiell of Annapolis will umpire. Play will be called at 2 o'clock. Both elevens did some light work this afternoon, just enough to keen them on edge. The teams will probably line up as follows: New Haven. Nov. 4.—With a driving fitty minutes' practice the Yale football eleven this afternoon made final preparations for the Chicago A. A. game here to-morrow. Despite the poor showing of the Chicago team in New York and Boston, is atiff game is expected. Manager Thompson of the Chicagos has telegraphed the Yale management that he has secured several new players to pit against Yale to-morrow, and that he expects a close game. As Dudley, Benjamin, and De Saulles, three of Yale's star backs, will be unable to play, the chances are that Yale's scoring power will be greatly weakened. Capt. Chamberlin said to-night that the regular line will be presented against Chicago, and that the pony backs, Wear and Burdick, will get a trial at the start. Sullivan, at quarter, and McBride, at full back, will make up the eleven. Giant Heffelfinger went into the line this afternoon against Marshall, and the pair fought stubbornly. At times Heffelfinger would toss both Marshall and Capt. Chamberlin out of his way as if they were puppets. Marshall at last lost his temper and punched Heffelfinger in the face. Heffelfinger aughed good-naturedly at his punishment, but at the conclusion of practice the blood was trickling down his cheek and he was nearly as exhausted as Marshall. It is now settled that Durston will be kept behind the line. He weighs 182 pounds and hits the line harder than any other Yale candidate.

De La Salle Institute and Berkeley School sams lined up for the opening game in the New York interscholastic chamolonship series at Berkeley Oval yesterday afte moon, the former winning an easy victory by 'e score of 46 to 'U. The Berkeley School bo', I were so far outclassed in weight that they were toppled over like tenpins, and only once throughout the game did they get within scoring dislance of De La Salle's goal line. The De La Salle team did not by any means play a brilliant game and had Berkeley been more on the alert the score would not have been so large. The interference of both teams was away off, especially that of Le La Balle. J. A. Forney. Berkeley's tackle, and O'Dwyer. De La Salle's guard, punched each other during the second half, and were at once disqualified. This left Berkeley in poor shape. The climax came when Fassett, Berkeley's end, injured himself in a scrimmage. Becoming dazed, he rushed from the field and became violent in the dressing room. This so discouraged Capt. Boysson that he stopped paying eight minutes before time was up. fassett was all right when the teams left for bone. The line-up:

The interscholastic football season is now at its height. Of the thirteen schools in the New for Interscholastic Athletic Association that have football teams Trinity has made the best showing thus far. Out of the five games played up to date, the school has a record of two wins sad one tie. In the opening game of the season, he same with Yonkers High School, he defensive work was very good and the Usersence magnificent. Against the strong New York Military Academy the team continued its good work and showed wonderful line-heating qualities. The game with Princeton Tree School was a well-earned victory, as the later cam was much heavier. The strong team of St. Paul school was the next to fall-work in the Trinity boys. The game with Hotobales School was only lost after a stubborn fight. Up to last Thursday De La Salle Institute has blazed four games, carrying off the honors in three, while one resulted in a tie, Although the Culier School boys played five games thus far and came out with flying colors in every one, scoring a total of 111 points to their opportents 6, their showing can by no means he classed with that of Trinity School and De La Salle Institute.

Berkelsy School has by no means made the showing that was expected, and out of the four games played a defeat resulted in each instance. It must, however, be taken into consideration that the teams Berkeley School has met far outclassed the latter as far as weight is concerned, and then again the faculty has debarred some of the best players from taking part in games. The weakness is mostly behind the life.

Collegiate School has developed a fairly strong football team and has made an excellent showing. Four victories without a score against them is their record. The Dwight School football team has played four games, one of which resulted in a victory. Brisler School played three games unsuccessfully. Out of three games played, Sachs School won two.

Among the Brooklyn schools, St. Paul has played six games, with a record of two victories, one tie and three defeats. Every game was against a strong teem. The biggest record was made in the game with Hacketstown. The following records show the work accomplished by the schools in the New York and Long Island Interscholastic Athette Association:

The football team representing the Morristown School of New Jersey is the best the school has ever turned out. The team was coached by Dickey of Princeton 'varsity last year, and he has moulded together a squad of youngsters that have held their own in all the games thus far played.

PRINCETON, Nov. 4.—The regular practice game with the scrub eleven was omitted this afternoon, as the coachers would take no risk of possibly injuring any one with the hard game against West Point to-morrow staring them in the face. A light signal practice of ten minutes' duration was held, but the men were sent through the plays at top speed and no loafing was permitted. After the ordinary formations had been gone through with the field was cleared of every one but the coachers and substitute players, and the team had a short secret drill in some special plays that will not be used until the Yale game. The team will leave to-morrow morning on the 7:05 o'clock train for New York. Twenty players will be taken. A crowd of abent 200 students will follow the eleven later in the day to help things along by systematic cheering.

GOLF. Miss Beatrix Hoyt and W. H. Sauds Defeated at Westchester.

Miss Beatrix Hoyt the champion woman golfer of the United States, made her first appearance on the links since the championship at Ardsley yesterday at the Westchester Golf Club and met with defeat. It was in a mixed foursome handicap, however, in which she had W. H. Sands for a partner. Handicaps are proverbially uncertain, so this defeat will not count against Miss Hoyt's vious unbeaten career. Dr. and Wells tied Miss Hoyt and Sands on their weis tied miss noyt and sands on their net score. For a time it seemed as though this might be the best score, but later on Mrs. R. D. Graham and Malcolm Graham. Jr. took the lead with 96. The day was a delightful one for golfing. The best gross score was made by Miss Beatrix Hoyt and Sands, and if the conditions had been the same as they were last year they would again have won the cup. The scores follow:

Second Round—W. J. Travis, Oakland, beat M. Graham, Jr., Harbos Hill, by 5 up and 8 to play; G. O. Winston, Cutler School, beat J. N. Steele, Jr., Nutley, by 2 up; G. F. Hiffany, Westchester Golf, beat C. M. Hamilton, Baltuarol, by default; W. R. Thuruton, Morris County, beat W. L. Gunther, Westbrook, by 1 up (twenty holes). To-day the finals, at thirty-six holes, will be played between Travis and Tiffany, and the open handleap, for which some sixty entries are booked, will also be played.

To-day's events are of more than usual in terest, aside from the open handicap at the Westchester Golf Club. At the Englewood Westchester Golf Club. At the Englewood Golf Club the club championship will be settled. A week ago, in the semi-finals, E. H. Jewett won from A. M. Kidder by default, and Frank Enos beat F. J. Reinmund. by 3 up and 2 to play. To-day Jewett and Enoswill play off at thirty-six holes for the championship medal presented by the governors of the club. The preliminary round at medal play, eighteen holes, all seratch, to qualify for the champion-ship of the Wee Burn Club, will also be settled, and at the Harbor Hill Golf Club W. B. McKean and Carl Gordon will meet in the final round for the club championship. The winner, however, will not be entitled to the cup unless he challenges and defeats George E. Armstrong, the present holder. The usual sequence of members' handicaps and interclub matches will fill up the roster of play on the M. G. A. links.

Continental was sent to the post a hot favor ite for the opening event, but after leading to the stretch he curled up and Leando came along in time to win by a head from Doggett Capt. Sigsbee had only three to beat in the sec ond race, and after indulging Hiles with the lead for five furlongs, he rushed up and won by a length and a half. The third event was mere exercise canter for Bluenway, who had only Danforth to beat. He rated along behind the Daly colt to the stretch, where he raced past and won by two lengths.

Sister Fox figured creditably in a head-and-head finish with Village Pride and Bessie Taylor and won in the gamest fashion. Anagran and Incandescent were beaten off. NEWS OF THE WHEREMEN.

Republicans Have Given to Biders the Ad vantages of Road Improvem Why the Republican campaign managers have not refuted the arguments and fusinustions of the Tammany Hall workers who are seeking to influence the vote of evelists is something that is puzzling those wheelmen who are more apt to vote in compliance with personal interest than in accordance with partisan prejudice, Riders, both Republithe facts presented recently in THE SUN, in the clubs and the other places where they congregate. It was a surprise to many Republicans to learn how entirely they were on the side of the facts. It was recognized and acknowledged in a general way that "Good Roads Van Wyck" had very little footing, but it was not action. it was not entirely appreciated until the facts were collated that neither he nor his administration had a leg to stand upon in the pretence of being good roads men. It was known that a great amount of road improvement had been accomplished since 1894, but as one wheelman remarked last night:

"We did not think it was so one-sided. Honestly. I cannot point my finger at a thing the Democratic party has done unless we go back to 1887, when Gov. Hill signed the Liberty bill, and that was passed by a Republican Legislature. I am a Democrat, but this arraignment feazes me. I thought that both parties favored wheelmen and road improvement and that all other talk was simply politics. Now I quit. I care more about seeing the State roads and city streets improved than I do about excise laws, canals or anything else. Is there a bieyele vote? Watch mine!" "Good roads for all and cycle paths for wheelmen," is the announcement of principle

of the Republican campaign organization. The ocument makes no promises, but there is information for wheelmen in it, because it recites facts that are readily recognizable. This is the only circular aimed at bicyclists that has peen issued by the Republicans. It is a simple affair, telling the history of the wheelman's "magna charta," the Liberty bill, which was strenuously opposed by Tammany, but which was passed by Republicans and gave bleyale riders a right to live and own wheels and move along in the streets. The Guide Board law, the abolition of tolls for cycles on the bridge, the Good Roads bill of last winter and other details that have not before been mentioned are brought to mind by this circular. It tells only what has been done and modestly mentions the dates and the political cast of those in power at the time. It is essencast of those in power at the time. It is essentially a document of evidence. It contains no promises. Wheel riders will find the circular and another one issued by the "Van Wyck Good Roads League of Wheelmen" interesting. Regardless of polities, they should get both these documents, because if read and compared they are instructive. The one mentioned gives dates and the names of bills. It is frankly issued for campaign purposes, but is full of information. The other, sent out by the "alphabetical and numbers department" of Tammany, contains some excellent matter on the subject of roads, and reprints arguments to prove that good roads are good things with which not every cyclist is familiar. It is not so statistical as the other. In fact, it does not tell anything about what Richard Croker or Robert Van Wyck or Augustus Van Wyck or the Democratic party has done in the past. It explains why good roads are nice to have, and it emphasizes the fact that both Robert and Augustus use bicycles, and it has also a long list of names of persons who favor good roads. The names evidently were not taken from any directory of the city, because the addresses given are those of various towns in the State. These campaign circulars are interesting. It might be that if everyone of the thousands who are not cranks on the subject of bicycles and good roads would closely persuse the bids for the "bicycle vote" there might be more men voting! according to what they thought would bring better riding and less according to partisan habit. The advocacy of road improvement is not selfish. Like the quality of mercy, it "blesseth them that give and them that receive." A smooth road almprovement that has been made in State and city occurred while its supporters were in office. The new Van Wyck organization, surnamed "Good Roads League," does not tell of anything that has been done. It asks for votes because both Robert and Augustus like smooth riding on a wheel. Thus far it looks like oratory against mathematics, with the Democratic flower i tially a document of evidence. It contains no

It was somewhat remarkable that there was only one independent candidate on the election ticket of the New York State division, L. A. W. The only one who opposed the ticket submitted by the Nominating Committee was Will R Pitman, and he, although a man of popularity, did not succeed in pulling through. The harmonious sentiment of the League members in the State and the machine-like result of the vote was well demonstrated by the election. The successful ticket was:

Th. Brooklyn Cycle Board of Trade has past of the following resolution in order to determine its attitude toward shows:

Hesolved, That this board repudiates in their entirety the statements recently made in a Brooklyn paper purporting to show animated opposition on the part of the board to the cycle show to be given by the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island, and characterizes such statements as being without foundation and untrue in every particular. That this board, while still of the opinion that a cycle show is neither necessary nor advisable, so far as the weifare of its members is concerned, will not object to nor oppose in any manner an exhibition held by any ciher responsible body or association.

President George W. Bennett of the board has also issued an open letter stating that while the board as a body will not support shows, it will not oppose the one being promoted by the Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island.

It is a grave question who is the cycling

It is a grave question who is the cycling champion of 1898. Is it Eddie Baid, who on the League tables was first when the professionals left the League of American Wheelmen, or Tom Butler, who took three 'O'-point championships, practically as walkovers, or Arthur Gardiner, who won more firsts at national circuit meets than any other man, or Owen Kimble, whose points under the L. A. W. and the outlaw organization make the biggest total, or Major Taylor (colored), who in all kinds of races throughout the season scored the most victories? A table has been compiled by C. W. Mears, the Ohlo handicapper, showing the net result of the endeavors of all the men, and according to it, Major Taylor is most deserving of the honor of being called champion. This table shows the number of times that each rider got first, second or third place in any race, either in the national circuit, at a "pot hunt" or under "outlaw" jurisdiction. The table counts simply firsts, seconds and thirds. figuring four points, two points and one point respectively for the places, which is the only system that is mathematically just. According to this calculation Taylor heads the list and the others rank as follows:

8ds, 11 8 18 9 0 1109 117 117 128 0 42

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 4.—The pace was not fast enough to-day for Major Taylor, the colored cycloge, and he falled to lower the mile record at the Woodside Park third-of-a-mile track. But Taylor got down to record figures at the one kilometre distance—about five-eighths of a mile. Taylor was paced by two quint teams in this trial. Taylor called for more pace constantly and finished well up at the side of the machine in 57.3—5 seconds, breaking the record mark of Edouard Taylor of 58 2-5 seconds by four-fifths of a second. But three of the four quint teams were available for the mile trial, which was in reality a trial, as Taylor did not expect to succeed.

Taylor finished the mile in 1 minute 34 1-5 second, the record being 1 minute 32 2-5 seconds by Edouard Taylore, made at the Willow Grove track in this city. Taylor will not go for the mile again until his four teams are well mounted, probably Monday of next week.

Washington, Nov. 4.—Harry Park of the Century Cycle Club of this city to-day broke the New York-Washington bicycle record, both baced and unpaced, by I hour and 52 minutes. Park left the City Hall, New York, yesterday morning at 6:50 o clock and covered the distance 243 miles, unpaced, in 25 hours 45 minutes. The previous record of 27 hours 37 minutes was established last year by Lieut. H. D. Wise, U. S. A., who was accompanied by pacemakers.

Jim Rogers May Replace Bob Cock as Yale's Rowing Coach.

New Haven, Nov. 4.—Capt. Fred Affeir of the Yale 'varsity crew this aftennoon ordered the eandidates to be ready to report on next Monday. As Capt. Allen is a member of the football eleven the training of the candidates will be in the hands of one of the other members of the crew until the gridiron season closes. Every member of last years 'varsity boat exceps Capt. Payne Whitney is in college. Capt. Allen said to-day that nothing had been decided relative to a coach for next season. Bob Cook is still in France and is not expected to return. The chances are that Jim Rogers, the former Yale football captain and trainer of the champion Yale freshman crew, will receive an invitation to coach the 'varsity. He is a student in the Harvard law school.
